DEFINITIONS

▶ AUSTIN

- ▶ Austin was the first jurist to make jurisprudence as a science. He defines 'jurisprudence' as "the philosophy of positive law." He opines that the appropriate subject to jurisprudence is a positive law i.e. law as it is (existing law). In other words, jurisprudence is not a moral philosophy but it is a scientific and systematic study of the existing, actual and positive law as distinguished from natural, ideal or moral law.

HOLLAND'S DEFINITION

▶ Holland:

An English Jurist Sir Thomas Erskine Holland defines, Jurisprudence as, "Jurisprudence is the formal science of positive law" According to him jurisprudence should only concern itself with the basic principles of concepts underlying in any natural system of law.

Salmond defines jurisprudence as,
Jurisprudence is the science of the first principles of the civil law."

Slide 10 of 70

According to Salmond Jurisprudence can be defined in two senses (1) in the 'Generic Sense' jurisprudence can be defined as Science of Civil Law' and (2) in the 'Specific sense' Jurisprudence can be defined as the science of the first principle of civil law.

► Keeton:

Keeton Defines jurisprudence as "
the study and systematic arrangement of the general principles of law.

► Roscoe Pound:

Dean Roscoe Pound defines jurisprudence as " the science of law, using the term law in the juridical sense, as denoting the body of principles recognised or enforced by public and regular tribunals in the administration of justice".
